1. Obtaining F-1 Visas for Degree-Seeking Students

The following steps must take place as soon as possible after the student has accepted the offer of admission.
After accepting the offer of admission, log into their Axess account and submit an online transaction request for I-20 (including for dependents, if applicable), to the Graduate Admissions Office. For information see https://gradadmissions.stanford.edu/admitted-students/entering-stanford/international-students/student-visas.

Indicate, on the I-20 request form, that the form should be sent by regular airmail or else agree to pay courier service. (If couriered, this charge is added to student’s bill.)

1. Must also provide the following documents in the online I-20 request form (in PDF format):
   - Legible copy of the passport page(s): photo page with machine-readable strip including page with current expiration date if not on the same page.
   - Verified sources of funding documents in US dollars that meet or exceeds the Estimated Student Expense budget.

Note: Applicants to the School of Medicine MD program, Graduate School of Business or School of Law have a separate visa request form. The student submits those forms to the school to which he or she is applying, and that school forwards the completed package to Graduate Admissions.

2. After verification of all academic credentials, receipt of ETS scores and evidence of sufficient English proficiency, submit the online I-20 form to Bechtel International Center.

3. Review financial documents and create form in PeopleSoft Pass

4. Batch process the I-20 in SEVIS and retrieve the processed I-20.

   Print and sign the I-20 form and either mail directly to the new student or notify the degree program to pick up.

5. Note: Degree programs should make arrangements with Bechtel staff ahead of time if they would like to pick up and to mail these forms. These arrangements are already in place for the Schools of Medicine, Law and Business.

6. Clear student for matriculation and place enrollment hold.

7. Pay the SEVIS fee and apply for a visa with the necessary documents and visa fee to the US State Department (Embassy location).

2. Obtaining J-1 Visas for Degree-Seeking Students

After accepting offer of admission, log into their Axess account and submit an online transaction for the DS-2019 (including for dependents, if applicable), to the Graduate Admissions Office. For information see https://gradadmissions.stanford.edu/admitted-students/entering-stanford/international-students/student-visas [1].

Indicate, on the DS-2019 request form, that the form should be sent by regular airmail or agree to pay courier service. (If couriered, this charge is added to student’s Autumn bill.)

1. Must also provide the following documents in the online DS-2019 request form (in PDF format):
   - Legible copy of the passport page(s): photo page with machine-readable strip including page with current expiration date, if not on the same page.
   - Verified sources of funding documents in US dollars that meet or exceeds the Estimated Student Expense budget.

Note: Applicants to the School of Medicine MD program, Graduate School of Business or School of Law have a separate visa request form. The student submits those forms to the school to which he/she is applying, and that school forwards the completed package to Graduate Admissions.

2. After verification of all academic credentials, receipt of ETS scores, and confirmation of sufficient English proficiency, send request to Bechtel International Center.

   Print and sign the DS-2019, and either mail directly to the new student or notify the degree program to pick up.

5. Note: Degree programs should make arrangements with Bechtel ahead of time if they would like to pick up and to mail these forms. These arrangements are already in place for the Schools of Medicine, Law and Business.

6. Clear student for matriculation and place enrollment hold.

7. Pay the SEVIS fee and apply for a visa with the necessary documents and visa fee to the US State Department (Embassy location).

3. Initial Registration
1. Upon issuance of the I-20/DS-2019 and matriculation for a new student, place an enrollment hold on the student’s record.
   Graduate Admissions

2. Upon arrival at Stanford, enter a local address in Axess.
   Student

3. Attend a session of "Maintaining Your Legal Status" workshop, offered by Bechtel International Center.
   Student

   After completion of 2 and 3 above, present photocopies of the following information at the Bechtel International Center:
   - Pages from the student's passport:
     - the visa stamp page
     - expiration of passport page
     - photo page
   - The I-94 card (front and back)
   - The I-20 (pages 1 & 3) of the DS-2019 (front page only).

4. Upon presentation of the above documentation, release the enrollment hold for the student.
   Bechtel

5. Retain all documentation in their files.
   Bechtel
